Reduce work hours
To do more turistic trips

I liked to be all the time with people from different countries, dinamic activities and visiting cities but I think we have to have more free time and freedom to go anywhere with our mates

Meet people, talk in english and adapt yourself being out of your country
Do another workshops, mix the students for doing activities and organise the rooms in order to be international

Positive:

1. Friendship
2. English improvement
3. New lenguaje knowledge

To improve:

1. More freetime
2. More excursions
3. The possibility of choise the activities

POSITIVE ASPECTS; language improvement, be more sociable and know new cultures.

Positives: Teachers, Partners, Afternoons

Negatives: English level, School activities, Hotel

It's an opportunity to travel and be able to see other places. You can get your English better. it isn't just an exchange with one country, it is with a lot of countries so that it is better than an normal exchange. To improve it will be a good idea try some program to maintain the relationship with the ones that participated in the project. Also they could organize more activities not in the school timetable. Finally, more game.

To be improved:

- 1.) Local students were excluded at montmelo's meeting, which to me was rude to say the least.
- 2.) It would've been great to have more time; expanding the project's span would be a positive change.
- 3.) Information, as crucial as it is, would sometimes not be communicated properly, especially unexpected last-minute changes. It'd be interesting to build a reliable platform, considering foreign students can't regularly have access to internet

To be acknowledged:

- 1) The project by itself is an outstandingly good initiative
- 2) I like the fact that we were given quite a lot of "freedom" throughout the project, not always being tied to planned activities.
- 3) The experience of visiting foreing countries and knowing of other cultures

The host family is very important to make this project successful, and I was lucky to have an amazing one. Taking part in this project makes you improve your English and knowing about new cultures. The activities that we made at schools were quite boring. But it is the only negative thing I can remember from my experience.

Three positive aspects wouls be: the fact that I met a lot of new people, another one is that I speak more fluently and the last one is that I learnt from other cultures and shared my knowledge with others. I would not say anything to improve because I think everything was great.

Meeting new people, english improve and new experience
